Guernica Announces Content Partnership Ahead of 15th Anniversary Celebration

New York, New York (November 20, 2018)—Leading up to the kickoff of its 15th anniversary in January 2019, Guernica, a non-profit home for writing on global politics and art, is expanding its narrative capability through a partnership with SIMA Studios, a non-profit media agency celebrating social impact cinema. By providing its documentary content, SIMA Studios will allow Guernica to deliver great storytelling in visual form. The collaboration is the first of many exciting announcements leading up to Guernica's 15th birthday.

The partnership arrives on the heels of Guernica's new multimedia interview series “Miscellaneous Files,” which offers screenshots from writers’ digital devices and reveals new insights into their practices.

Guernica will team with SIMA, and its extensive collection of award-winning films, to curate and present work that speaks to the shared mission of amplifying ideas that foster justice, equality, and civic action.

“Approaching the wonderful milestone of our 15th anniversary, we are looking at ways to innovate, considering new opportunities for telling Guernica stories,” said Phineas Lambert, Publisher and Director at Guernica. “To be able to partner with SIMA and bring amazing, global documentaries to our audience is incredibly exciting.”
